GAME DESIGNER

About me

I've worked professionally as a Game Designer for about seven years, with the ability to clearly communicate the game design to all relevant developers, resolve uncertainties and questions about the direction or content of the game, create tasks for design work that need to be implemented, assist programmers and artists with the requirements that the design has for implementation, organise sprint plannings, and track the project to detect and solve any possible issue.

Primary Role: Game Designer.

Secondary Role: Producer.
